

Capital Dance Floor

(8.7.2006 - J. Dassatti/D. Lamoureux/E. Lamoureux)

I have pockets of ambition and organized currency
Flirting with imagination and the venture of indecency
Don't worry - I promise we won't have to talk
I'm not thinking about the price of gas

This isn't the Middle East, this isn't a love forever
This is just the economics of the dance floor
Just until the money runs out on the dance floor
Just until the money runs out

Buying love on the margin from the advocates of industry
I'm consumed by the wealth of manufactured imagery
Don't worry - I promise we won't solve a thing
I'm not thinking about the day after this

This isn't the Middle East, this isn't a love forever
This is just the economics of the dance floor
Just until the money runs out on the dance floor
Just until the money runs out

There's an expectation lingering as discontent
If we go home alone we have failed the president
Don't worry - I promise we won't promise a thing
I'm not thinking about just what to think

This isn't the Middle East, this isn't a love forever
This is just the economics of the dance floor
Just until the money runs out on the dance floor
Just until the money runs out

Transactions. Stock exchange. The threat of war. Free enterprise. Democracy.
I love you. I love you.
